Standard of Conduct Information Agreement

A student at the University of Missouri assumes an obligation to behave in a manner compatible with the University's function as an educational institution and voluntarily enters into a community of high achieving scholars. Consequently, students must adhere to community standards in accordance with the University's mission and expectations.

These expectations have been established in order to protect a specialized environment conducive to learning which fosters integrity, academic success, personal and professional growth, and responsible citizenship.

By attending the University of Missouri's Branson Field Lab you will be a student at the University of Missouri, will be participating in a University of Missouri-supervised course, and will be staying a University of Missouri-owned or leased premises (the physical plant and the land it sits on, respectively).

The jurisdiction of the University of Missouri encompasses conduct which occurs on the University of Missouri premises and/or at University-sponsored or University-supervised functions. However, the University may take appropriate action, including, but not limited to the impositions of sanctions under Sections 200.20 and 200.025 of the Collected Rules and Regulations against students for conduct occurring in other settings, including off campus, in order to protect the physical safety of students, faculty, staff and visitors or if there are effects to the conduct that interfere with or limit students' ability to participate in or benefit from the University's educational programs and activities.

All students participating in the University of Missouri's Branson Field Camp will be expected to abide by Chapter 200.010 of the University of Missouri's Collected Rules and Regulations, which covers Student Conduct, and can be found at:
